Maier & Associates has always been an active participant in many area charitable causes. But we felt we could do more.

We incorporated Maier & Associates Charitable Foundation as a nonprofit organization in 2001. Since then, we’ve given nearly $200,000 each year to organizations and individuals throughout the Tri-County area.

The Charitable Foundation was designed to help the children other agencies and programs were missing and give each child the same opportunities others have.

Just for Kids is a philosophy more than a program. While we have regular ongoing activities, our Foundation’s role is as much facilitator and team-builder as financier.

Through Just for Kids, we find areas of need in the community that are not being met by government agencies and other charitable organizations and programs. And we find a way to get them met.

As the parent/guardian of the camper listed above, I hereby agree to the following as a condition of the camper’s participation in the Saginaw Valley State University (SVSU), summer camp program and related activities. I give my permission to SVSU to provide, seek, obtain, or approve any medical, necessary, or emergency health care during the camper’s involvement in the SVSU summer camp program. I understand that this authorization is given in advance of any specific consent to any and all such diagnostic, treatment or medical care being required and is to serve as specific consent to any and all such diagnostic, treatment or hospital care which may be deemed advisable. I understand my rights under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and authorize SVSU to release information as necessary for managing summer camp healthcare. I attest that a physician has examined the camper in the past twelve months and he/she was found to be in good health. I understand and agree that SVSU may in its sole discretion, decide to refuse participation by the camper based on disclosure of medical condition I attest that currently there is no medical reason for the camper not to participate in the summer camp program. I acknowledge that participation in the summer camp program involves an inherent risk of personal injury. I assume such risk on behalf of the camper and give my permission to the camper to participate in all summer camp activities, including but not limited to, swimming, boating, and other physical activities. I understand that the camper will be subject to the rules and regulations of the SVSU summer camp. I understand that any person who repeatedly disobeys camp policies or procedures will be immediately ejected from camp.

Parent and Athlete concussion information sheet

What is a concussion?
A concussion is a type of traumatic brain injury that changes the way the brain normally works. A concussion is caused by a bump, blow, or jolt to the head or body that causes the head and brain to move quickly back and forth. Even a "ding," "getting your bell rung," or what seems to be a mild bump or blow to the head can be serious.

What are the signs and symptoms of a concussion?
Signs and symptoms of concussion can show up right after the injury or may not appear or be missed until days or weeks after the injury. If an athlete reports any of the following symptoms or a combination of symptoms after a bump, blow or jolt to the head or body, he or she should be kept out of play the day of the injury. The athlete should only return to play with permission from a health care professional who has evaluated the athlete for concussion.

Symptoms reported by athletes:

Signs observed by coaching staff:
Apparent slowed or slurred speech and direction of assignment or position. Forgets instruction. Is unsure of game, score, or opponent. Moves clumsily. Answers questions slowly. Loses consciousness (even briefly). Shows mood, behavior or personality changes. Can't recall events prior to hit or fall. Can't recall events after hit or fall.

Did you know?
Most concussions occur without loss of consciousness. Athletes who have, at any point in their lives, had a concussion have an increased risk for another concussion.

Young children and teens are more likely to get a concussion and take longer to recover than adults.

Concussion danger signs:
In more cases, a dangerous blood clot may form on the brain in a person with a concussion and crowd the brain against the skull. An athlete should receive immediate medical attention if after a bump, blow or jolt to the head or body the athlete exhibits any of the following danger signs. One pupil larger than the other, is droopy or cannot be awakened. A headache that gets worse. Weakness, numbness, or decreased coordination. Repeated vomiting or nausea. Slurred speech. Confusion or disorientation. Cannot recognize people or places. Becomes increasingly confused, restless, agitated. Has unusual behavior. Loss of consciousness.

What should you do if you think your athlete has a concussion?
If you suspect that an athlete has a concussion, remove the athlete from play and seek medical attention. Do not try to judge the severity or the injury yourself. Keep the athlete out of play the day of the injury and until a health care professional experienced in evaluating for concussion says the athlete is symptom-free and it's safe to return to play. Rest is key to helping an athlete recover from a concussion. Exercising or activities that involve a lot of concentration, such as studying, working on a computer, and playing video games may cause concussion symptoms to reappear or get worse. After a concussion, returning to sports and school is a gradual process that should be carefully managed and monitored by a health care professional. Remember, concussions affect people differently. While most athletes with concussions recover quickly and fully, some will have symptoms that last for days, or even weeks. A more serious concussion can last for months or longer.

Why should an athlete report their symptoms?
If an athlete has a concussion, he or her brain needs time to heal. While an athlete brain is still healing, the athlete’s body is more likely to have another concussion. Repeated concussions can increase the time it takes to recover. In rare cases, repeated concussions in young athletes can result in brain swelling or permanent damage to their brain. They can even be fatal.

I have read and understood the above information about concussions and how they should be managed.
